Simply one of the best performance groups around. With the driving immediacy of live music, the drama and wit of the spoken word, a capella vocal chants based on field hollers, the force and spirit of movement, Urban Bushwomen explore the growth, struggle and transformation of the human spirit. From a teenage pajama party to the dignity forged through suffering, Urban Bushwomen create a sense of community onstage that has brought them world-wide acclaim.

Brilliantly theatrical, this acclaimed company from Detroit brings THE RICHEST DEAD MAN ALIVE - an uproarious comedy

THEATRE GROTTESCO

David Cale about the lust for money, life after death and a simple couple's quest for riches beyond their wildest dreams.

David Cale, returning to Proctor's Too after his incredible success last year, premieres his newest work, LITTLE STORIES WITH PRIVATE PARTS, before taking it to the Public Theatre in New York for its official opening. Cale is a brilliant satirist and wit, whose stories both entertain and illuminate. Not to be missed.

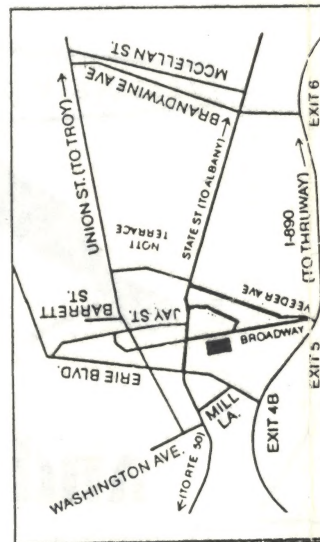

The drought is over. Doug Varone has come up with a quality we've been missing around these parts for awhile - movement of exuberant - even reckless physicality.
